1 Factory Settings

Zheng Yufei, born in April 18th, 1996, female. Her name in Chinese means "raining so big". You can call her "Fei chyan". She graduated from Sun Yat-sen University in 2014. Her undergraduate major is Mathematics and Applied Mathematics. She has very broad interests but none of them is professional. Although she is a quick learner and good at asking questions, she likes to procrastinate her work. If anyone finds her absent-minded, please remind her of the work must to be done and tell her the dead line is very close. Her built-in programs don't include human-face-recognition or map navigation. As a result, she often gets lost and suffer from face blindness.

2 Interests and Preferences

Zheng Yufei has many showy and not substantial skills, including singing, playing the piano, playing the violin, drawing, playing various courtgames and so on. After many years of coding, most of them have been forgotten successfully. If you're interested, you can talk to her to find more information. For the moment, she likes playing video games and watching Japanese animations. She will be so happy if you let her know that you are playing a same game. Zheng yufei doesn't like drinking because she is allergic to alcohol, and very picky about what to eat. She has two cats in her family. She is very happy to show other people the pictures of her cats. Try to ask her for more information about it. You can choose to speak Japanese or English to her, of course Chinese is the best. Both of her spoken English and Japanese are not very well, but she is trying to communicate better with others, please help her if you want.

3 Application Status

Zheng Yufei has been tried many programming languages, but be careful, she couldn't make out the difference between the languages but only know how to compile them without making errors. She tried her best to completed many basic computer courses. So she is able to understand the basic technical communication. She doesn't have some brilliant deeds, mostly just to amuse herself by writing some little video games. If you're interested and don't mind the quality of the games, you can ask her for a copy.(Only for Windows and Android). She's completely new to CG, ML and Java, so she may ask a lot of questions about these things, please don't get bored. She always fancy that she could combine her awful drawings with the models, while currently she doesn't know how to do. Her current and biggest experiment is her undergraduate graduation project with many, many bugs. If you are curious, you can go to ask her and try it out. It would be nice if you could give her some help.

4 Conclusion

It looks like a little bit of trouble, all in all, Zheng Yufei is very easy to get along with, don't worry. There's always something wrong with being a new guys, so please to understand more. If you have more questions, please feel free to contact with her. Hope you'll have a good cooperation together.
